INTRODUCTION

Adva (Against Domestic Violence and Abuse) is delighted to produce this detailed data report about the delegates adva trained during 2009 – 2010. The report highlights which sector and which agency our delegates came from and also in which geographical location across Devon they worked.

The data is broken down into adva course 'type' and offers simple top line data summaries as well as more in depth data tables and pie charts. We hope this will be useful analytical information for all our partner agencies because you will be able to see, at a glance, how much (or how little) adva training your agency received during that year.

To put some context to the 2009 – 2010 training data report, please see the data summary table below showing top line data about the number of delegates trained by adva, per training course type, during 2007 – 2008, 2008 – 2009 and 2009 – 2010:

Table 1 – Summary of adva training courses 2007 – 2010 (* Estimated delegate numbers for some courses)

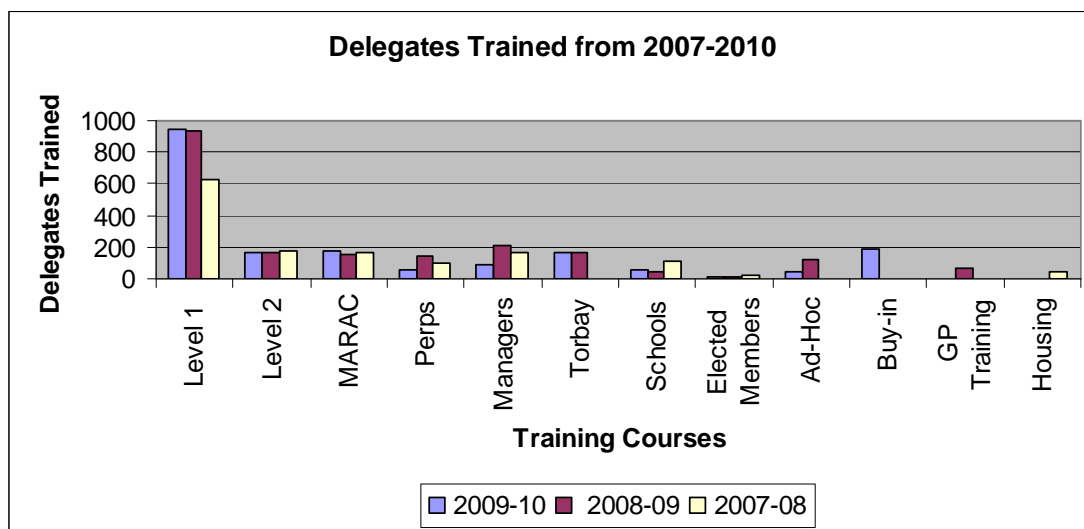

Adva Training Course	Number of delegates	Number of delegates *	Number of delegates *

Multi-agency Housing Training	0	0	44
Total	1885	2006	1395

What this data tells us immediately is that 2008 - 2009 saw 611 more delegates through the adva training room doors than in the previous year (2007- 2008). 2008 - 2009 also saw 121 more delegates through the training room doors than in the following year (2009 - 2010).

Examples of other quick headline data from this table include:

- 2009 - 2010 saw a big new demand in agencies wanting to commission adva training ‘in-house’ for their employees.
- Our Level 1: ‘Tackling Domestic Violence & Abuse’ foundation course continues to grow year on year in popularity and demand.
- Our Level 2: OCN (Open College Network) accredited two-day ‘Domestic Violence & Abuse – The Impact on Children’ course seems to have remained at a healthy plateau over the past three years, as has our multi-agency Domestic Violence and Abuse risk assessment training (‘The MARAC Process in Devon’ new half-day course replacing the one day ‘Preventing Murder and Serious Harm’ course).
- The demand for our ‘Tackling Perpetrators of Domestic Violence & Abuse’ training course dropped considerably in 2009 - 2010.

This same data can be viewed as a bar chart for those who prefer a more visual way of looking at statistics:

This adva training data is important for monitoring trends, planning our annual training programme and responding to demand / lack of demand – as well as looking at which agencies are engaging (or not) with which training courses.

What the data doesn't tell you is that the 2009 -2010 training year was a year of consolidation, quality assurance review and course updating where required. We are, therefore, not surprised that we didn't exceed the delegate numbers of the year before, where implementation of the Devon County Council Employer Policy and corresponding 'Managers Tackling Domestic Violence and Abuse' training was at a peak. Also, in response to the drop in demand for our 'Tackling Perpetrators of Domestic Violence & Abuse' training course in 2009 - 2010, we have reviewed and revamped this course and it is now re-branded: 'Tackling Abusive Behaviour - Taking Responsibility'. Delegate evaluations for 2009 – 2010 also showed that adva training continues to be of high quality and very well received.

The following report will take a detailed look at our training data for 2009 – 2010. Appendix 1 and 2 adds a bit more detail to adva training data from 2007 – 2010 for your interest. The report has been produced by Janice Healey, adva Project Support Officer and Susannah Hunter, adva co-ordinator.

NB The 'Sector' headings used here correspond with Devon County Council's (DCC's) online booking system. We therefore use these categories to ensure our data corresponds to the rest of Devon County Council. For information, CYPS (Children and Young People Service) sits in the 'Local Government' sector and not the 'Children & Family Support' sector or 'Young People's Services' sector in this report. Likewise, Local Government Housing teams sit under the 'Local Government' sector and not 'Housing'. 'Emergency Services' includes Police, Ambulance and Fire; 'Health' includes PCT and Provider Trusts and 'Housing' includes Housing Associations.

Please also note: for ease of reference all further mention of our 'Preventing Murder and Serious Harm within Domestic Violence and Abuse' training courses in this report will also automatically include all our 'The MARAC Process in Devon – increasing safety for victims of Domestic Violence and Abuse' – pilot and multi-agency half day training courses.

* NB Geographical location = location of delegate's work base, not location of adva training venue. The area does not necessarily equate to the area that the Service covers i.e. some Services, especially in Exeter are based in the city but cover a much wider area. We do endeavour to be equitable across Devon when setting up courses. However, from experience we find that courses don't always fill in some parts of Devon as they do in others.
