

What Happens Next

The opinion of local people is important. It will be considered along with other factors such as cost, engineering design and associated construction risks, impact on the environment, local features, landscape and the opinions of relevant Government bodies. All these factors need to be weighed so that a decision can be made on the best way to resolve "the problem".

That is why we are asking individuals, local Councils, and other representative organisations for their views.

You can help by returning the leaflet with any comments or suggestions you may have via the Freepost address by 5th October 2008. If you have any further questions or require further information please contact us as follows:-
