Each area is built up from parishes with one or more population centres and the remaining rural hinterland. Further information about the creation of the Devon Town geography can be found at the end end of this report.

Deprivation - 2010

The principal source of deprivation data is currently The Indices of Deprivation 2010. This is a Lower Super Output Area (LSOA) level measure of deprivation. There are over 32,000 LSOAs in England, each one containing about 1,500 people. They were developed following the 2001 Census. The index comprises seven domains: income, employment, health & disability, education & training, barriers to housing & services, the living environment and crime. These are combined to give an overall indication of deprivation.

Identifying Devon Towns

The main factor that decides a town's hinterland is provision of services; the place that the hinterland looks to in order to provide the things it needs to survive. In order to identify the 28 Devon Towns, analysis of the following services and other relevant factors have been taken into account:

- Local Travel Plans – which are based on public consultation and map local travel patterns, the majority of which are short ones in and around local communities as part of people's daily lives.
- Shopping catchment areas – which are the service most frequently accessed by people.
- Learning Community catchment areas – which have a major influence on where people look to for services. Learning Community catchments do not always follow district or even county boundaries, but are based on a collection of feeder primary schools.
- Market and Coastal Towns Initiative areas - The Market and Coastal Towns Initiative was started after recognition that the health of a market town is vital to the well being of its hinterland, and that many of Devon's market towns were in need of regeneration. It was a Central Government initiative, administered by the RDAs. Over half of Devon was included in the Market and Coastal Towns Initiative.
- Parishes - The boundary definitions are shown in terms of parishes, as they are traditionally the smallest area used for 'clustering'. The diagram below is an illustration of how this works for one Devon Town: Kingsbridge.

Exeter also provides a similar or related "market town" function as well as being a sub regional centre with a larger sphere of influence.
